God Cares About the Little Things

The Objective is the key concept for this weeks lesson. It should be the main focus of the study

These are the key verses that you will find helpful in teaching your study this week. The "Main passage" is the basis of the study, where the other verse support the objective of the lesson.

There is a memory verse for the students that relates to every study. If a student can memorize the verse for the following week you may give them a prize from the "reward box" found on your cart.

An introductory activity or question that will settle the class, draw their attention to the study and prepare their hearts for God's Word

Objective To teach that God knows everything about us, is always with us, and cares for us.

Key Verses

Genesis 16—Main Teaching Passage

Psalms 139:1-6

Matthew 10:29-31

Psalms 34:18

Psalms 56:8

Psalms 46:1

Memory Verse - 1 Peter 5:7

"Cast all your care upon Him, for He cares for you."

Hook

Ask the students, have you ever felt like nobody noticed you?

Then ask the students if any of them know how many hairs they have on their head. Have them try to count how many hairs they have. After a few moments, point out that this is impossible.

Did you know that God not only notices you, He even knows how many hairs are on your head! Point out how incredible it is that the Creator of the universe cares about how many hairs are on their head. However, He cares about more than just hair. He cares about every detail of their lives. God sees you. God hears you. God cares for you.

What does the Bible say? This is where we will read a passage or series of passages that teach on the subject of the day.

Today's lesson will show the students how even though they might seem small, unimportant, or even unseen, God knows and cares about every part of their lives. In Psalm 139 God tells of His perfect knowledge of us, when we rise, when we lay down, what we say even before we say it. In verses 7-12 we learn He is with us wherever we go, there is nowhere we can run from His presence. In verses 13-16 we learn that God made us according to His plan for His purposes.

We see these truths in action in Genesis 16. This story takes place during the life of Abraham and Sarah. At this point God had not changed their names yet, so they were called Abram and Sarai. God had promised them they would have many children, but years had gone by and they still didn't have any.

Sarai had a maid named Hagar. When Hagar became pregnant she began to act proud and unkind toward Sarai. Sarai became upset and started mistreating Hagar. Things became so bad for Hagar that she ran away from home. God came to her when she was all alone in the wilderness. He found her and asked her where she was going. When Hagar told Him that she was running away, He told her to go back to Sarai and obey her. He then promised that Hagar would have a son, whom she was to name Ishmael (which means God hears), and from Ishmael would come a great nation. When she heard this, Hagar called the Lord, "The God Who Sees," because God had seen her in her trouble. She then returned to Abram and Sarai and gave birth to Ishmael.

LOOK

There are billions of people in the world, but you're not lost in the crowd (like where's Waldo!). Even though there are billions of people, God sees you, God hears you, and God cares about what you are doing and what is happening to you, down to the number of hairs on your head. You may not feel very important at times, or feel like you matter much. But God cares about you so much that He knows every detail of your life: When you get out of bed, leave your house, come home, etc. God even knows what you are thinking right now! Nothing goes unnoticed.

Maybe that sounds scary! But this is no reason for us to worry. God isn't sitting up in heaven watching us just waiting for us to mess up, waiting for us to make a mistake so that He can hurl a giant lightning bolt down at us. God's response to our disobedience (sin) was to come near to save. God's knowledge of the wrong we have done and the mistakes we have made led Him to plan our rescue through His only Son. Think about your parents. When you get home from school, what do they always ask? "How was school, what did you do today?" They ask those questions not because they thought you were going to get in trouble, but rather so that they can know about what is going on in your life.

The interpretation/exegesis of the passage. What does this passage mean? How does this passage apply to my life?

Today we looked at the example of God's care for Hagar. When God saw her He didn't say, "I have important things to do. I don't have time for this runaway servant!" When God heard her He didn't say, "I have other, more important people praying to me right now. I don't have time for this!" No! God saw her. God heard her. God cared for her. He went to comfort her, speak to her, and gave her a promise. God made sure she was taken care of. After meeting the angel, Hagar called God "the God who Sees" because she had learned that God sees every detail of our lives and cares about what happens to us. God would have her name her son Ishmael (God hears) so she would always remember God's care for her and her family.

As we will see, there are no unimportant people in God's eyes. Just like God saw and cared about Hagar, He sees and cares about you and me! That's why the Bible says, "cast all your care upon Him, for He cares for you." He sees you when you are sad. He sees you when you are scared at night. He sees you when you get hurt, when you're lonely, or when you get upset. He knows when you need a friend, help, or encouragement. God sees you. He cares for you. He loves you. And He is strong enough to help you.

So don't be afraid! If God cares enough to make sure every bird gets fed, how much more will He care for you! As a matter of fact, God sent His only Son Jesus to come and rescue us from our sin—because He cares for us. We will learn more about that later this week! But in the meantime, we can bring our cares and our worries to God and find help in our time of need.

TOOK

As a class, memorize 1 Peter 5:7.

Review the lesson by asking the class how we know God cares for us. How much does God know about us? Why does God love us?

Remind the kids: God sees you. God hears you. God cares for you.

Pray: Father, thank You for caring for us and inviting us to bring all of our cares and anxieties to you. Help us to trust you more.

Family Question: How do we know that God cares about us?

What is my response to this passage of Scripture? How should my life change according to what this passage teaches me? What are the practical things I can do throughout the week to make this true in my life?

Commentary on Matthew 10:29-31 by David Guzik

(Mat 10:29-31) Even in the midst of persecution, Jesus' disciples should not fear, but be bold in their proclamation of the gospel.

"Are not two sparrows sold for a copper coin? And not one of them falls to the ground apart from your Father's will. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows."

e. Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows: Jesus' disciples didn't need to be afraid, because God really did care for them, even down to the most minute detail. If God cares for the sparrows, and numbers the very hairs of our head, then He will also pay careful attention to our needs. The persecuted easily feel that God forgets them, but He has not.

i. God knows us better than our friends know us; better than our husband or wife knows us; He knows us better than we know ourselves. We don't know how many hairs are numbered on our head. The God who knows us so well will take care of us.

ii. The clear emphasis in this short section is clearly "do not fear." "This is the third time, in six verses, that they and we are bid to banish this cowardly base passion, this causeless, fruitless, harmful, sinful fear of men. He that fears God need fear none else." (Trapp)

FURTHER STUDY

Commentary on Genesis 16 by David Guzik

Hagar and the Birth of Ishmael

A. Sarai gives her servant girl Hagar to Abram.

1. (Gen 16:1-2) Sari proposes a child for Abram through Hagar.

Now Sarai, Abram's wife, had borne him no children. And she had an Egyptian maidservant whose name was Hagar. So Sarai said to Abram, "See now, the LORD has restrained me from bearing children. Please, go in to my maid; perhaps I shall obtain children by her." And Abram heeded the voice of Sarai.

a. She had an Egyptian maidservant: Hagar was undoubtedly part of what Abram received during his time in Egypt (Genesis 12:16).

b. Please, go in to my maid; perhaps I shall obtain children by her: Sarai encouraged Abram to take part in what was essentially a "surrogate mother" arrangement in that day. According to custom, the child would be considered to be the child of Abram and Sarai, not Abram and Hagar.

c. And Abram heeded the voice of Sarai: Sarai did something that goes against the nature of wives - to give another woman to her husband. She probably did this because she knew the promise of God (that Abram would be the father of many nations), yet she thought she was the problem with God's promise being fulfilled. So in an effort to "help God out," she allowed her husband make her servant pregnant.

i. Ginzberg quotes a Jewish tradition saying that before they came to live in the Promised Land, Abram and Sarai regarded their childlessness as punishment for not living in the land. But now they had been in the land for ten years, and they still had no children. Sarai probably felt it was time to do something. After all, doesn't "God help those who help themselves"?

ii. Even though this early form of "surrogate motherhood" was common and accepted in that day, it doesn't mean it was right. God is clearly not leading Abram and Sarai.

2. (Gen 16:3-4) Abram agrees with Sarai's suggestion.

Then Sarai, Abram's wife, took Hagar her maid, the Egyptian, and gave her to her husband Abram to be his wife, after Abram had dwelt ten years in the land of Canaan. So he went in to Hagar, and she conceived. And when she saw that she had conceived, her mistress became despised in her eyes.

a. After Abram dwelt ten years in the land: It had been more than ten years since the promise was made regarding Abram's descendants. By most accounts, ten years seems like a long time to wait for the promise of God.

i. The long waiting for the promise discouraged them and made them vulnerable to acting in the flesh. Yet, even after this, it would still be more than 13 years until the child of promise came.

ii. When we impatiently try to "help God out" in the flesh, it accomplishes nothing and may even prolong the time until the promise is fulfilled. Jacob had to live as an exile for 25 years because he thought he had to "help God out" to get his father's blessing. Moses had to tend sheep for 40 years in the desert after he tried to "help God out" by murdering an Egyptian.

iii. It is much better to receive God's help than to try and help Him out in the flesh. "Those who are truly zealous for God frequently reach for fruit without first dying. Unfortunately much Christian work is done in this way, and while there is conception, the child that is born can never be the heir. Christian work that is done merely through the zeal of human effort without counting the body as dead, and Sarai as good as dead, may produce great revival campaigns with but a few genuinely saved, large church memberships with many tares among the wheat." (Barnhouse)

b. So he went in to Hagar, and she conceived: Abram was certainly in the flesh when he agreed to inseminate Hagar and not trusting in God's ability to provide an heir through Sarai. But this wasn't a matter of a sensual romance. According to the custom of the day, Hagar would actually sit on the lap of Sarai as Abram inseminated her, to show that the child would legally belong to Sarai, as Hagar was merely a substitute for Sarai.

i. We understand this from the similar occasion of using a servant as a surrogate mother in the case of Rachel's giving of Bilhah to Jacob when Rachel was barren. In that context, Genesis 30:3 reads: So she said, "Here is my maid Bilhah; go in to her, and she will bear a child on my knees, that I also may have children by her."

ii. The phrase "bear a child on my knees" refers to the ancient practice of surrogate-adoption. Some believe that the phrase refers only to a symbolic placement of the child on the knees of one who adopts it. Others believe that it refers to the surrogate sitting on the lap of the adoptive mother during both insemination and birth. For example, referring to Genesis 30:3 the Twentieth Century Bible Commentary says: "These words are probably intended literally, and not merely as figurative adoption."

iii. We should not regard the idea that Hagar was inseminated and gave birth "on the knees" of Sarai as a certainty - we don't know enough about the ancient practice, and even if it were an ancient custom it doesn't mean that it was followed in every case. But it certainly is a reasonable possibility.

c. And she conceived: Then the worst thing from Sarai's perspective happened - Abram succeeded in inseminating Hagar. This proved beyond all doubt the problem was in Sarai, not in Abram, and it also could make people think Hagar was "more of a woman" and more blessed than Sarai.

3. (5-6a) Sarai's anger towards Hagar.

Then Sarai said to Abram, "My wrong be upon you! I gave my maid into your embrace; and when she saw that she had conceived, I became despised in her eyes. The LORD judge between you and me." So Abram said to Sarai, "Indeed your maid is in your hand; do to her as you please."

a. I became despised in her eyes: Hagar's contempt for Sarai started the problem. She couldn't resist displaying an inappropriate haughtiness, thinking her pregnancy somehow showed her to be better than Sarai.

b. My wrong be upon you! Sarai blamed the whole situation on Abram, and for good cause. He should have acted as the spiritual leader and told his wife God was able to perform what He promised, and they didn't need to try to "help God out" in the works of the flesh.

c. Indeed your maid is in your hand; do to her as you please: Abram seemed to make a bad situation worse by turning the situation over to Sarai and not taking care of the child he is father to. Yet, in this, he also puts his relationship with Sarai first, and that is good.

i. These terribly complicated and difficult situations often arise out of our sin. All in all, it is much easier to live life trusting in the LORD. God wants to spare us from these difficulties.

B. Hagar flees from Abram and Sarai.

1. (6b-9) The Angel of the LORD appears to Hagar and instructs her.

And when Sarai dealt harshly with her, she fled from her presence. Now the Angel of the LORD found her by a spring of water in the wilderness, by the spring on the way to Shur. And He said, "Hagar, Sarai's maid, where have you come from, and where are you going?" She said, "I am fleeing from the presence of my mistress Sarai." The Angel of the LORD said to her, "Return to your mistress, and submit yourself under her hand."

a. She fled from her presence: As Hagar escaped this difficult situation the Angel of the LORD (here, the pre-incarnate presence of Jesus) met her by a spring of water in the wilderness.

i. We can assume that this was God, in the Person of Jesus Christ, appearing to Abraham before His incarnation and birth at Bethlehem. We assume this because of God the Father it says, No one has seen God at any time. The only begotten Son, who is in the bosom of the Father, He has declared Him (John 1:18), and no man has ever seen God in the Person of the Father (1 Timothy 6:16). Therefore, if God appeared to someone in human appearance in the Old Testament (and no one has seen God the Father) it makes sense the appearance is of the eternal Son, the Second Person of the Trinity, before His incarnation in Bethlehem.

b. Return to your mistress, and submit yourself under her hand: God tells Hagar to do something very difficult: go back to her terrible situation and to submit herself to Sarai. We can suppose that Hagar might get very different counseling from many counselors today.

2. (Gen 16:10-12) The promise of the Angel of the LORD to Hagar.

Then the Angel of the LORD said to her, "I will multiply your descendants exceedingly, so that they shall not be counted for multitude." And the Angel of the LORD said to her: "Behold, you are with child, and you shall bear a son. You shall call his name Ishmael, because the LORD has heard your affliction. He shall be a wild man; his hand shall be against every man, and every man's hand against him. And he shall dwell in the presence of all his brethren."

a. I will multiply your descendants exceedingly: God has great plans for Hagar's child. He will become a great nation. Indeed, Ishmael will become the father of all the Arabic peoples.

i. Today's battle between Jew and Arab is nothing new. Both Jews and Arabs are descended from Abram by two half-brothers: Ishmael and the son to come later from Abram and Sarai, to be named Isaac.

ii. The entire conflict can be traced back to Abram's decision to "help God out" in the flesh, both when he agreed to inseminate Hagar, and when he went to Egypt to begin with. The effects of our sin may reach far beyond what we ever imagined.

b. He shall be a wild man; his hand shall be against every man, and every man's hand against him: Her child's life will not be easy, but God will still bless and sustain him. God's dealing with Hagar gives us hope. God sees our suffering and desires to touch our life when we suffer.

3. (Gen 16:13-16) God's blessing and protection of Hagar and Ishmael.

Then she called the name of the LORD who spoke to her, You-Are-the-God-Who-Sees; for she said, "Have I also here seen Him who sees me?" Therefore the well was called Beer Lahai Roi; observe, it is between Kadesh and Bered. So Hagar bore Abram a son; and Abram named his son, whom Hagar bore, Ishmael. Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to Abram.

a. You-Are-the-God-Who-Sees: Hagar knew this was no mere angel who appeared to her. The Angel of the LORD was also the-God-Who-Sees, the same One watching over Hagar and Ishmael.

i. Ishmael is the first man in the Bible to receive his name before he was born.

b. So Hagar bore Abram a son: Apparently, Hagar did return with a submitted heart. She told the whole story to Abram and Sarai, and Abram named the child Ishmael, just as instructed in the meeting with the Angel of the LORD Hagar described.

i. Hagar might have returned and said, "I fled from you all because I was so miserable and thought I could not continue here. But the LORD met me and told me He would see me through. He told me to come back and submit to you, so that is why I'm here." After meeting with El Roi, (You-Are-the-God-Who-Sees), Hagar knew that if God could be with her in the wilderness, He would be with her in having to submit to Sarai also.

ii. "If we seek to change our circumstances, we will jump from the frying pan into the fire. We must be triumphant exactly where we are. It is not a change of climate we need, but a change of heart. The flesh wants to run away, but God wants to demonstrate His power exactly where we have known our greatest chagrin." (Barnhouse)
