Study 33

The Ascension

The Ascension

The Objective is the key concept for this week's lesson. It should be the main focus of the study.

These are the key verses that you will find helpful in teaching your study this week. The "Main passage" is the basis of the study, where the other verses support the objective of the lesson.

There is a memory verse for the students that relates to every study. If a student can memorize the verse for the following week you may give them a prize from the "reward box" found on your cart.

An introductory activity or question that will settle the class, draw their attention to the study and prepare their hearts for God's Word.

Objective This lesson will show the importance of the Holy Spirit in the life of the believer using the story of Jesus ascending into heaven in Acts 1.

Key Verses

Acts 1:1-11—Main Teaching Passage

Matthew 28:16-20; Mark 16:14-20; Luke 24:50-53 (Parallel Passage)

John 14:15-20, 25-26; 15:26-27; 16:5-15

Luke 11:9-13

Memory Verse - John 14:16-17a

"And I will pray the Father, and He will give you another Helper, that He may abide with you forever—the Spirit of truth,"

Hook

Review last week's memory verse, 2 Corinthians 5:17.

Ask for a volunteer. Blindfold that student and have them try to walk to a particular point in the room while your hands are on their shoulders guiding them. Then ask them to try it again without help. Ask them which one was harder.

Jesus had been a guide to His followers while He was on earth, but in today's story we will see the end of His earthly ministry, when He would no longer be around to lead them. However, He was going to leave a guide for His disciples who would lead and empower them once He left.

What does the Bible say? This is where we will read a passage or series of passages that teach on the subject of the day.

BOOK

Matthew, Mark, and Luke all conclude their Gospels with a record of Christ's ascension into heaven. Matthew and Mark in particular include "the Great Commission," Jesus' command for His disciples to go to all the nations preaching the good news of Jesus. The book of Acts, which is Luke's sequel to his Gospel, picks up where those Gospels left off and provides us with more details of the event.

The ascension took place forty days after the resurrection (vs. 3). During that time, Jesus did and taught many things. Last week we studied the only story to take place during this time recorded in the Bible (John 21). At the end of the period, the disciples were gathered with Jesus in Bethany outside of Jerusalem. Jesus commanded them to stay in Jerusalem until they received the promised power of the Holy Spirit. The disciples then asked if Jesus was planning on restoring the kingdom of Israel, but Jesus told them that the Father's timing for such things was not for them to know. Instead, they were to wait for the Holy Spirit to give them power to be His witnesses in Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and to the end of the earth. After He said that, Jesus was taken up on a cloud into heaven. As the disciples watched this happen, two angels asked them why they were gazing up into heaven and told the disciples that Jesus was going to return to earth the same way they saw Him leave. The rest of Acts 1 tells us that the disciples did return to Jerusalem and wait.

The interpretation/exegesis of the passage. What does this passage mean? How does this passage apply to my life?

LOOK

So far this year, we have studied through the four Gospels looking at the life of Jesus on earth. These four books take us from the beginning of Christ's life through His ministry, death, and resurrection, and end with His ascension. The book of Acts, which we will study for the remainder of the year, covers what happens next. Acts tells the story of how the Church went from a small group of ordinary people from Galilee into the Body of Christ that stretched across most of the known world at that time.

It might seem strange that Jesus would leave His disciples. They may have been sad, confused, discouraged, or afraid. Yet Jesus promised in John 14:15-20 that He would not leave them as orphans, but that He would send them a Helper. That Helper would be the Holy Spirit. Jesus told them a lot about the Holy Spirit in John 14-16 (see "Key Verses"). In fact, Jesus said that it was better for us that He leave so that He could send them the Holy Spirit (John 16:7). Through the Holy Spirit, God's presence would be with all believers all over the world, empowering them to live for Jesus and be His witnesses.

LOOK (Continued)

In today's story, Jesus said that the disciples (also known as the apostles) would be His witnesses in Jerusalem (the city they were in), Judea (the region they were in), Samaria (the region to the north), and to the end of the earth. The rest of the book of Acts will show us that they did exactly that. However, it was not the wisdom or power of the apostles that enabled this all to happen. It was the power of the Holy Spirit that took these ordinary men and made them effective witnesses to Christ. Notice also that Jesus said that the power would enable them to be witnesses. They were not conquerors but messengers who shared the love of Christ with the rest of the world.

What's amazing is that the same Power, the same Holy Spirit that enabled the apostles to change the world is available to all of us who believe. The promise of the Holy Spirit was not just a promise to Jesus' disciples back in the days of the book of Acts. He can be in us as well! The Holy Spirit is the power we need to please God, live the Christian life, and spread the Gospel. He teaches us the Word of God, helps us to overcome temptation, and emboldens us to be witnesses of the amazing things Jesus has done for us. All a believer has to do is ask, and God will fill you with the Holy Spirit, just as Jesus promised in Luke 11:9-13. As we study Acts, we will see the apostles do some amazing things, but all of it was only made possible by the power of the Holy Spirit in them.

What is my response to this passage of Scripture? How should my life change according to what this passage teaches me? What are the practical things I can do throughout the week to make this true in my life?

TOOK

As a class, memorize John 14:16-17a.

Go through the passages in John 14-16 listed in the "Key Verses" section. Make a list of all the ways the Holy Spirit helps us in our walk with the Lord.

Pray: Thank Jesus for leaving us the Holy Spirit to empower our lives as believers. Ask God to fill each of you with the Holy Spirit.

Parent Question: Read John 14:25-28 and 16:12-15. How does the Holy Spirit empower us to live the Christian life?

FURTHER STUDY

Commentary on Acts 1:1-11 by David Guzik

JESUS ASCENDS TO HEAVEN, A NEW APOSTLE CHOSEN

A. Prologue.

1. (Acts 1:1) Reference to former writings.

The former account I made, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus began both to do and teach.

a. The former account I made: The former account is the Gospel of Luke. At one time the Gospel of Luke and the Book of Acts were joined together as one book with two volumes.

i. Imagine what it would be like if the Book of Acts wasn't in the Bible. You pick up your Bible and see the ministry of Jesus ending in the Gospel of John; next you read about a man named Paul writing to the followers of Jesus in Rome. Who was Paul? How did the gospel get from Jerusalem to Rome? The Book of Acts answers these questions. "A great New Testament scholar has said that the title of Acts might be, 'How they brought the Good News from Jerusalem to Rome.'" (Barclay)

ii. That expansion from Jerusalem to Rome is a remarkable story. "Humanly speaking, [Christianity] had nothing going for it. It had no money, no proven leaders, no technological tools for propagating the gospel. And it faced enormous obstacles. It was utterly new. It taught truths that were incredible to the unregenerate world. It was the subject to the most intense hatreds and persecutions." (Boice)

iii. Acts is written in the literary style of the Greek translation of the Old Testament, known as the Septuagint. "Since Luke can write in a different style (Lk. 1:1-4), this is something deliberate. Probably he regarded himself as recording sacred history." (Marshall)

iv. We really don't know all that much about Luke from the New Testament.

We know that he was a physician (Colossians 4:14).

• We know that he was a Gentile (from his name).

We know that he was a devoted companion of Paul (from the text of Acts, and Colossians 4:14, Philemon 24, and 2 Timothy 4:11).

v. There was a time when many scholars and critics thought that Acts was sort of a romance novel of the early church, written more than 100 years after the events supposedly happened. But William Ramsay, a noted archaeologist and Bible scholar, proved that the historical record of Acts is remarkably accurate regarding the specific practices, laws and customs of the period it claims to record. It is definitely the work of contemporary eyewitnesses.

vi. In the mid-1960's, A.N. Sherwin-White, an expert in Graeco-Roman history from Oxford, wrote about Acts: "The historical framework is exact. In terms of time and place the details are precise and correct... As documents these narratives belong to the same historical series as the record of provincial and imperial trials in epigraphical and literary sources of the first and early second centuries AD... For Acts the confirmation of historicity is overwhelming... Any attempt to reject its basic historicity even in matters of detail must now appear absurd. Roman historians have long taken it for granted."

vii. John Calvin wrote that the Book of Acts was "a kind of vast treasure." D. Martyn Lloyd-Jones called Acts "that most lyrical of books... Live in that book, I exhort you: It is a tonic, the greatest tonic I know of in the realm of the Spirit.” (Cited in Stott)

b. Theophilus: This man might have been a Christian wanting instruction. He might have been a Roman official being briefed by Luke about the history of the Christian movement. Or, the name could be symbolic, because the name Theophilus means “God-lover.”

i. In the introduction to the first volume (Luke 1:3), Luke addresses Theophilus with title most excellent, which was a way to address people who held high office.

ii. Since Acts ends with Paul awaiting trial before Caesar, some have wondered if Luke-Acts are not “defense briefs” on Paul’s behalf to give a Roman official background on Paul’s case. Luke arrived in Jerusalem with Paul in Acts 21:17; he left with him again on the journey to Rome in Acts 27:1. In those two years, Luke had plenty of time to research and write his Gospel and the Book of Acts.

iii. “Ancient books were generally written on papyrus scrolls. It was practical to have a scroll about thirty-five feet in length. When it got any longer it got too bulky to carry around. This physical limitation has determined the length of many books of the Bible.” (Boice) Luke used two scrolls to tell his story, and one we call “The Gospel of Luke” and the other we call “The Book of Acts.”

iv. Luke wanted to show Theophilus and the Romans:

- That Christianity is harmless (some Romans officials had embraced it themselves).
- That Christianity is innocent (Roman judges could find no basis for prosecution).
- That Christianity is lawful (as the true fulfillment of Judaism, which was an approved religion in the Roman Empire).

c. Of all that Jesus began both to do and teach: Notice that the former account concerned all that Jesus began both to do and teach. Luke’s Gospel describes only the beginning of Jesus’ work; Acts describes its continuation; and the work of Jesus continues to our present day.

i. We must remember that Acts does not give us a full history of the church during this period. For example, the churches in Galilee and Samaria are barely mentioned (Acts 9:31), and the establishing of a strong church in Egypt during this time isn’t mentioned at all.

ii. Acts spans a period of about 30 years, and takes us up to about A.D. 60 or 61, with Paul in Rome waiting to appear before Caesar Nero. This same Nero began his infamous persecutions of Christians in A.D. 64.

iii. Wonderfully, what Jesus began still continues. There is a real sense in which the Book of Acts continues to be written today. Not in an authoritative Scriptural sense; but in the sense of God’s continued work in the world by His Spirit, through His church.

iv. “The Acts of the Apostles should therefore be studied mainly for this double purpose: first, to trace our Lord’s unseen but actual continuance of his divine teaching and working; and, secondly, to trace the active ministry of the Holy Spirit as the abiding presence in the church.” (Pierson)

2. (Acts 1:2-3) The last work of Jesus before His ascension to heaven.

Until the day in which He was taken up, after He through the Holy Spirit had given commandments to the apostles whom He had chosen, to whom He also presented Himself alive after His suffering by many infallible proofs, being seen by them during forty days and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God.

a. Until the day in which He was taken up: Jesus, through the Holy Spirit, instructed the apostles regarding what to do in His absence. He had given commandments to the apostles.

i. Significantly, Jesus did this through the Holy Spirit. This was the resurrected, glorified Lord Jesus Christ, risen with all authority and sovereignty. Yet He still chose to not rely on His own resources (as it were), but relied on the power and the presence of the indwelling Holy Spirit.

ii. The Holy Spirit — the Third Member of the Holy Trinity — is the aspect of God that lives and empowers and inspires man. The Holy Spirit has a work among those who are not yet believers, but also a great and significant work in those who believe.

iii. If the glorified, resurrected Jesus needed and relied on the Holy Spirit, so should we. This is a pattern for the rest of the Book of Acts, which shows us what the Holy Spirit does operating through the church. “The disciple is not above his Master, nor the servant above his Lord. If even he was indebted to the Holy Spirit for the power of his ministry, surely we cannot afford to attempt the work appointed us without the same anointing.” (Pierson)

b. To whom He also presented Himself alive after His suffering by many infallible proofs: Jesus also established the fact of His resurrection with many infallible proofs during the forty days after his resurrection but before His ascension. He left no possible doubt that He was resurrected, exactly as He had promised.

i. In 1 Corinthians 15:6 Paul described one of these many infallible proofs: He was seen by over five hundred brethren at once, of whom the greater part remain to the present. More than 500 people saw the resurrected Jesus, and most of them were still alive some 25 years later in the days of Paul’s ministry.

c. Speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God: The teaching Jesus gave during that period after His resurrection and before His ascension is not recorded, but we are told that He used that time to speak of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God.

i. Some Gnostic and New Age teachers would like to think that Jesus used those 40 days to teach His followers strange and obscure doctrines that must be rediscovered with new revelations today. But Luke told us that Jesus simply taught them much the same things and themes that He had taught them in His earthly ministry: The things pertaining to the kingdom of God.

B. The ascension of Jesus.

1. (Acts 1:4-5) Jesus’ final instructions to the disciples.

And being assembled together with them, He commanded them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the Promise of the Father, “which,” He said, “you have heard from Me; for John truly baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit not many days from now.”

a. He commanded them not to depart from Jerusalem: Jesus had nothing else for the disciples to do other than to wait for the coming of the Holy Spirit (the Promise of the Father). Jesus knew that they really could do nothing effective for the Kingdom of God until the Spirit came.

- To wait means that it was worth waiting for.
- To wait means that they had a promise it would come.
- To wait means they must receive it; they couldn’t create it themselves.
- To wait means that they would be tested by waiting, at least a little.

b. He commanded... the Promise of Father... baptized with the Holy Spirit: This is another example of how the fact of the Trinity — that there is One God in Three Persons — is woven into the fabric of the New Testament. Here we see that He (Jesus) told of the Promise of the Father, which is the coming of the Holy Spirit.

i. It is significant that this coming, filling, and empowering of the Holy Spirit is called “the Promise of the Father.”

- It shows that we should wait for it with eager anticipation; a “Promise of the Father” could only be good.
- It shows that it is reliable; the Father would never Promise something He could not fulfill.
- It shows that the Promise belongs to all His children, since it comes from God as our Father.

- It shows that it must be received by faith, as is the pattern with the promises of God throughout the Bible.
- ii. “The ‘promise of the Father’ now became also the promise of the Son.” (Pierson)
- c. You shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit: The idea of being baptized is to be immersed or covered over in something; even as John baptized people in water, so these disciples would be “immersed” in the Holy Spirit.
- i. It may be more useful to describe the baptism of the Holy Spirit as a condition than as an experience. We should perhaps ask, “Are you baptized in the Holy Spirit?” instead of asking, “Have you been baptized in the Holy Spirit?”
- d. Not many days from now: They knew that this Promise of the Father would come, but not immediately. It would be days from now, but not many days. Jesus had a purpose in not telling them exactly when it would come.

2. (Acts 1:6) The disciples ask Jesus a final question before His ascension.

Therefore, when they had come together, they asked Him, saying, “Lord, will You at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?”

- a. Therefore, when they had come together: This would be the last time they would see Jesus in His physical body, until they went to heaven to be with Him forever. There is nothing specific in the text to show us that they knew this would be their last time seeing Him on earth, other than the weight of the question they were about to ask.
- b. Lord, will You at this time restore the kingdom to Israel? This was a question asked many times before, but it had a special relevance now. They knew that Jesus had instituted the New Covenant (Luke 22:20). They also knew that the restoration of the kingdom to Israel was part of the New Covenant (as seen in Jeremiah 23:1-8, Ezekiel 36:16-30, Ezekiel 37:21-28).
- i. It was actually reasonable for them to wonder when the rest of the New Covenant would be fulfilled. The response of Jesus in the following verses also indicates that He did not rebuke them or even correct them for the question. He simply told them that the answer wasn’t for them to know.
- ii. “The verb restore shows that they were expecting a political and territorial kingdom; the noun Israel that they were expecting a national kingdom; and the adverbial clause at this time that they were expecting its immediate establishment.” (Stott)
- iii. The disciples certainly knew the many Old Testament prophecies describing the spiritual and national rebirth of Israel. The disciples probably thought that the spiritual rebirth seemed certain, so the national would also come.

3. (Acts 1:7-8) Jesus’ final teaching and final promise before His ascension.

And He said to them, “It is not for you to know times or seasons which the Father has put in His own authority. But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses to Me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth.”

- a. It is not for you to know: Jesus warned the disciples against inquiring into aspects of the timing of God’s kingdom, because those things belong to God the Father alone (which the Father has put in His own authority).
- i. It was wise for Jesus not to outline His plan over the next 2,000 years. It was good for the disciples to not know that the full restoration of the kingdom to Israel that they hoped would happen soon would not come for some 2,000 years. It might overly discourage them in the work they had to do right then, and might make them think less of the aspect of the kingdom of God that was present with them.
- ii. At the same time, Jesus did not say that there was to be no restoration of the kingdom to Israel; He simply said that speculation into the time and date of this restoration was not proper for the disciples.

iii. In His own authority: The resurrected, ascended Jesus again showed His submission to the Father. His submission to the Father was not temporary, but eternal.

b. But you shall receive power: If the national kingdom they wanted would be delayed, the power they needed would not. They would soon receive power with the coming of the Holy Spirit.

i. With their question about the restoration of the kingdom to Israel, it is possible that the disciples still saw power too much in terms of Caesar's kind of power, and not enough in terms of God's kind of power.

c. And you shall be witnesses to Me: The natural result of receiving this promised power would be that they would become witnesses of Jesus, all over the earth.

i. Notice that this really wasn't a command; it was a simple statement of fact: When the Holy Spirit has come upon you... you shall be witnesses of Me. The words shall be are in the indicative, not the imperative. Jesus didn't recommend that they become witnesses; He said they would be witnesses.

ii. If we want to be witnesses, we need to be filled with the Holy Spirit. The best training program for evangelism is of little effectiveness without the filling of the Holy Spirit.

iii. Isaiah 43:10 has the Lord proclaiming to His people You are My witnesses. A cultic group today claims that this is their mandate for being "Jehovah's Witnesses." Unfortunately, they fail to see Isaiah 43:10 in the context of Acts 1:8; we are truly Yahweh's Witnesses when we are Jesus' Witnesses.

d. In Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth: The progress of the spread of the gospel message from Jerusalem, to Judea and Samaria, and then to the end of the earth becomes the outline of Acts.

Acts 1-7 describes the gospel in Jerusalem.

Acts 8-12 speak of the gospel in Judea and Samaria.

Acts 13-28 tells of the gospel going to the end of the earth.

i. We may imagine the objections the disciples might think of to the places of ministry Jesus described.

- Jerusalem was where Jesus was executed at the word of an angry mob.

- Judea rejected His ministry.

- Samaria was regarded as a wasteland of impure half-breeds.

- In the uttermost parts of the earth, the Gentiles were seen by some Jews of that day as nothing better than fuel for the fires of Hell.

ii. Yet God wanted a witness sent to all of these places, and the Holy Spirit would empower them to do this work.

4. (Acts 1:9-11) Jesus ascends into heaven.

Now when He had spoken these things, while they watched, He was taken up, and a cloud received Him out of their sight. And while they looked steadfastly toward heaven as He went up, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel, who also said, "Men of Galilee, why do you stand gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will so come in like manner as you saw Him go into heaven."

a. He was taken up, and a cloud received Him out of their sight: Jesus was taken up from them as He blessed them (Luke 24:50). As He slowly disappeared into the sky, surrounded by a cloud they continued to gaze upward.

i. The cloud that received Him is suggestive of the cloud of glory (called the Shekinah) that is associated with the presence of God in the Old and New Testaments.

b. While they watched, He was taken up: It was important for Jesus to leave His disciples in this manner. In theory, He certainly could have simply vanished to heaven and the Father's presence in a secret sort of way. But by ascending in this manner, Jesus wanted His followers to know that He was gone for good, as opposed to the way He appeared and reappeared during the 40 days after His resurrection.

i. Remember Jesus' words to His disciples in John 16:7: It is to your advantage that I go away; for if I do not go away, the Helper will not come to you; but if I depart, I will send Him to you. Now the disciples could know that that promise would be fulfilled. The Holy Spirit was coming because Jesus promised to send the Spirit when He left.

c. Why do you stand gazing up into heaven? The two men (apparently angels) told the disciples to put their attention in the right place (obedience to Jesus' command to return to Jerusalem), not in wondering where and how Jesus went. Jesus told them to go to the ends of the earth, and they stood gazing up into heaven.

i. Morgan speculated that the two men were possibly Moses and Elijah. It seems best to say they were angels.

d. This same Jesus: This is a glorious phrase. It reminds us that the Jesus ascended to heaven and seated at the right hand of God the Father is the same Jesus of the Gospels. He is the same Jesus of love, grace, goodness, wisdom, and care.

e. Will so come in like manner as you saw Him go into heaven: Jesus will return just as He left.

- He left physically and will so come in like manner.
- He left visibly and will so come in like manner.
- He left from the Mount of Olives and will so come in like manner.
- He left in the presence of His disciples and will so come in like manner.

He left blessing His church and will so come in like manner.
